Gettysburg Supply House
No. 30 YORK STREET, GETTYSBURG.GRAND OPENING OF CHAUTAUQUA

The Inauguration of Chautauqua at Gettysburg Brings Out Nearly 2000 People. Very Gratifying to the Directors.

The initiation of the Chautauqua in Adams County was witnessed by nearly 2000 people on Friday evening, at the Crosta Field, on South Baltimore street. The introduction of this great educational movement was heartily welcomed, and the dream of the promoters was at last realized.

An open air concert by the Gettysburg Band was the opening feature and continued from 7.30 until 8 o'clock. The program for the evening was formally opened with prayer by Dr. J. A. Singmaster, president of the Theological Seminary. Mrs. Mattie B. Score rendered two selections, in a style that is all her own. She is widely known as a whistling soloist and her selections were delightfully rendered.

Mr. Keiffer introduced Prof. Charles F. Sanders of Gettysburg College, who delivered the Inaugural address. Prof. Sanders in a philosophical manner presented the Chautauqua to the people of Gettysburg, showing the possibilities of the movement and asking for the moral and financial support of the work. His historical sketch on the founding of the Chautauqua was of interest to all.

The Chautauqua was inaugurated by Lewis Miller, one of America's greatest philanthropists, at Chautauqua Lake, New York in 1873. The object of the work was originally to educate the masses and generally elevate humanity. This purpose is still the keynote of Chautauqua.

It is not the intention of the educators to assemble the people and then go into experimental or research work, far beyond the conception of the audience. The idea foremost is to convey in simple Anglo-Saxon terms, little grains of knowledge, that all can grasp. The movement is philanthropic in the sense that it is born of the love of humanity, but it is a business proposition that requires support and the matter of supporting it is up to the people themselves.

Dr. John G. Scorer was next introduced by Mr. Keiffer. This introduction was scarcely necessary, the radiance of Dr. Scorer's countenance and his affable disposition are sufficient to introduce him anywhere he may go. In speaking of the Chautauqua Dr. Scorer told of the work in other parts of the United States. Throughout the country we have 600 Chautauquas and in the Keystone State only six, counting Gettysburg as the sixth. Business men of the town have obligated themselves to the amount of $1500. In their effort to benefit the people of this community, they deserve the support of the people, both moral and financial. The atmosphere was thoroughly democratic and this, Dr. Scorer, wishes to impress upon the people, is one of the basic principles of the Chautauqua.

While the stage was being arranged for the principal lecture of the evening Mrs. Scorer, rendered her Whistling solo, "The Garden of Dreams."

Dr. T. C. Billheimer in his pleasing manner, again introduced Dr. Scorer, calling attention to his subject for the evening, "Old Glory."

The stereopticon views, which portrayed the American flag, "Old Glory," from the time of its infancy were of an interesting character. With a picture of the first American flag on the screen the audience joined in singing, "My Country 'tis of Thee."

The history of the flag was then carried through its historical career, beginning with the flag designed by Washington and made by Betsy Ross. Dr. Scorer related the history of its alterations, giving the reasons for the various changes which the emblem has undergone and finally closed with the flag of forty six stars, now our national emblem.

On Sunday the Chautauqua is free to all. The Chautauqua choir will sing at both morning and evening services in the Chautauqua tent. Miss Lillian Ring will sing "Fear Not Ye O'Israel," Sunday evening.

Following is the program for Saturday evening and Sunday:

FLOCK OF SHEEP

Storms of Friday Morning and Afternoon Do Other Damage. Surrounding Counties Effected Many Telephone Lines Out of Service.

This summer which has been especially notable for its severe electrical storms saw two more yesterday, the equal of any that preceded them. Both of these storms are reported to have been general throughout Adams and York counties and the northern part of Maryland.

A flock of sheep huddled together under a cherry tree on the farm of Samuel Dubbs along the Fairfield road in Highland township was almost deplored when lightning struck the tree and killed eight of them. This occurred during the afternoon. Torrents of rain fell near Gettysburg and hail was reported from many sections. As a result of which there was a decided drop in temperature during the night. Adams county suffered numerous minor damages from wind and water flooding the fields. With the exception of the accident on the Dubbs place and the fire on the Bigler property near East Berlin yesterday morning the county escaped ravages of lightning felt in nearby communities. Stories of a fire in the southwestern end of the county were current Friday and Saturday mornings but inquiry from these sections failed to confirm the reports.

Many telephone lines were put out of service Friday morning for the Bell and the United Companies. Repairmen were sent out early and had located the trouble at different points when the afternoon storm broke upon them delaying their work and doing much other damage.

About three miles this side of Hagerstown the large barn of Henry C. Loose heirs, tenanted by George H. Huffer was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Mr. Huffer, assisted by neighbors was able to save most of the live stock, but lost fifteen hundred bushels of wheat, about four tons of hay, a large six horse wagon, barrows, plows and other agricultural implements. The total loss is estimated at $4500.00.

A barn belonging to James Altland, in the Pigeon Hills, about six miles below Hagerstown, was also struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The live stock was saved but the season's crops and all the farm machinery were an entire loss. Mr. Altland has not formed an estimate of the amount of his loss.

TO DEATH

Franklin County Woman Catches Fire at Cook Stove. Henry S. Yohe, One of Counties Oldest Residents Passes Away.

Mrs. Clara, wife of Harry Neikirk, was burned so badly that she died later at her home near New Franklin on Thursday evening, about 4.30, and the frame house in which they lived was burned to the ground with all its contents. Mrs. Neikirk passed away about 11.30 p. m. at the home of Harry Pheil on the Henry Lehman farm.

There are two stories as to the terrible event, and as the woman was alone when it occurred nobody will likely know just which is right.

The most probable is that Mrs. Neikirk was cooking supper and the fire being slow she took the dreadful chance of hurrying it by pouring kerosene on the smouldering embers, an explosion of the oil followed and set fire to her dress and also to the furniture of the kitchen, which soon was a mass of flames.

Another version is that the young matron, who had been in bad health for some time, and had fainted or fallen over several times, was seized with a fainting spell and fell over the stove and her dress caught fire.

The story that an oil stove upset or exploded is incorrect for they owned no such stove.

The building stood on the Menno A. Ryder farm near New Franklin and was a frame structure replacing one burned about 15 years ago. It was destroyed and all its contents but other nearby buildings were saved. There is but little insurance.

When Mrs. Neikirk ran from the kitchen, blazing in a sheet of flames, some men ran to her assistance and extinguished the flames but she was burned over the head and body and inhaled some flames. She was taken to the Pheil home not far away suffering excruciating agony and Dr. I. H. Weagley called from Marion but she died just before midnight, as told.

Mrs. Neikirk was a daughter of Peter Deardorff, of near Kaufmann, and was about 32 years old. Beside her husband and two children, aged about 6 and 3 years, she is survived by her parents, some brothers and sisters.

Coroner Greenwalt decided that an inquest was not necessary after learning the facts from Dr. Weagley.

JULIA MARLOWE.

Actress Who Wedded E. H.
Sothern In London.

E. H. SOTHERN WEDS JULIA MARLOWE

Prominent Co-Stars Announce Their Wedding in London.

New York, Aug. 19.—Great surprise was caused by the announcement from London that Julia Marlowe and E. H. Sothern, the most prominent co-stars in the theatrical world, were married there.

The authority for this information is Mr. Sothern, who sent a cablegram to Lee Shubert, the theatrical manager, giving him the fact of the marriage without any further particulars.

The announcement was the more sensational in view of the many denials both had made of rumors of their intention to marry.

On Oct. 15 of last year Virginia Harned, the actress, who was married to Mr. Sothern in 1896, obtained a divorce from him in Reno, Nev. Immediately after the decree was awarded reports were circulated that Miss Marlowe and Mr. Sothern would be married, but these were denied.

Julia Marlowe was married to her leading man, Robert Taber, about eighteen years ago. After a few years he went to England and never returned, and Miss Marlowe got a divorce after a while. He died not long afterward.

LINER STRUCK ICEBERG

News of a Collision at Sea Drops Out of the Air.

Boston, Aug. 19.—Information that the steamship Saturnia, bound from Montreal for Glasgow, had been in collision with an iceberg 175 miles east of Belle Isle Tuesday, was picked up in a wireless message in this city.

The message was going out from the station at Wellfleet to the steamship Cassandra, Glasgow for Montreal. The message was marked "via all," meaning a request for other stations to relay to the Cassandra.

It stated that the Saturnia had struck the berg and was proceeding and requested the Cassandra to communicate with the Saturnia. There was so much wireless interference along the coast that details were difficult to get.

RAILWAYS TIED UP BY BRITISH STRIKE

50,000 Troops Encamped in Parks of London.

STILL WORKING FOR PEACE

Strikers Declare Transportation in United Kingdom Is Paralyzed by Walk-Out of 200,000 Employees.

London, Aug. 19.—The fight between the railroad companies and the striking union employees is on in dead earnest.

Thousands have obeyed the strike order and other thousands have continued at work. The companies are operating their principal trains under modified schedules.

The government and the board of trade are continuing their efforts toward peace, but the old deadlock between the unions and the managers appears to have reasserted itself. The managers had a prolonged meeting with members of the board of trade, but as far as could be learned the railroad companies declined to budge from their stand of making no further concessions beyond submitting the dispute to the royal commission suggested by the government.

The chief cities of England are now armed camps. The stations, workshops, signal posts, tunnels and the bridges are guarded by soldiers. The clerks have been pressed into service to aid the non-strikers in moving the trains. Despite the efforts of the companies, freight traffic is demoralized and the shortage of food supplies now threatens a famine at some points.

In some districts, where the territorial have been recruited largely from railroad employees, the men have been ordered to return their arms to headquarters.

There has been rioting at Birmingham, Derby, Sheffield and at Llanelli, Wales.

The international combine of steamship companies has no hope of getting away any ships from Liverpool this week. The best it expects to accomplish is to sail the steamer Philadelphia out of Southampton and the steamer Minneapolis out of London. These vessels, however, were fully booked up long ago, and consequently their sailing will help to diminish the number of stranded Americans in England.

The steamship combine is advancing the dates of sailing of its boats as far as possible to try and get the Americans home.

The evening trains in London were moving occasionally, but had scarcely any effect in reducing the masses of would-be travellers. Thousands living outside were unable to get home.

A large number of bluejackets from the warships at Portsmouth were ordered to stand by with a view to the possibility of having to land to replace the garrison troops which have been ordered into the strike area.

The strike committee has decided to pay the strikers $2.50 a week.

Some 50,000 troops arrived in London and camped at points where they were able to protect the lines of communication according to a plan worked out months ago by a commission composed of railroad men and military men appointed to adopt a scheme for protecting these lines in the event of a foreign invasion.

The union leaders expressed themselves as satisfied with the response to the strike order. They declared that 200,000 men had quit work.

Mrs. McCullough's body was found by Annie Larsen, the maid, to whom she left a note and a check for $1000.

SENATE PASSES NEW STATEHOOD BILL

Eliminates Recall of Judges in Arizona.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The senate passed the new statehood resolution which eliminates the recall of judges in the Arizona constitution and modifies the New Mexico constitution to make that instrument easier of amendment than in the form in which it was adopted by the people of the territory. The statehood resolution was passed by a vote of 53 to 8.

In executive session of the senate Senator Root offered an amendment to the two arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France exempting the Monroe doctrine from the terms of the treaty, and Senator Bacon gave notice that he would offer an amendment along the same lines, but more comprehensive.

FLEET TO USE AERO GUN

New Weapon Will Have Test in September Maneuvers.

Washington, Aug. 19.—When the fleet begins its spectacular mimic naval battle off the Virginia capes next month to repel combined surface, submarine and overhead attack it will use a new navy aeroplane gun, invented by the navy bureau of ordnance.

Plans for the new gun have been worked out by Rear Admiral Nathan C. Twining, chief of the bureau, and his assistants. It will be the first of this type of armament ever carried by an American war vessel.

The gun is a one pounder, with a special mount that permits it to be elevated at any angle and a sighting apparatus that permits range finding and accurate sighting when firing overhead.

BIG APPLE CROP

New York and Middle West Will Have Bumper Yields.

Boston, Aug. 19.—New York state and the middle west have a bumper apple crop this year for export shipments, according to the bulletin of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

The far west, Virginia and New England have fallen off somewhat, but New York and the middle west bring this year's average up to half as large again as last year's.

Michigan, Missouri, Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas have 75 per cent more apples than last year. Oregon and Washington have fallen off. Colorado and Utah have slightly heavier crops.

Senator Rayner Is Ill.

Baltimore, Aug. 19.—United States Senator Isador Rayner is suffering from a nervous breakdown at his summer home on the Choptank river, near Cambridge, Md.

THE FLOWER LADY

By WILLARD BLAKEMAN

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

I am a globe trotter. I have visited every country on the earth, but I have had only one adventure worth telling. Being in Palermo, in the island of Sicily, I desired to visit the temple of Ceres, the mythological goddess of the crops, from whom the word cereal is derived. Sicily is still more or less in the power of the brigands, and the location of this temple is one of their operating grounds. A visit to the spot, or was at that time, equivalent to capture by them and having to put out a goodly sum for ransom. There were several Americans at Palermo who wished to see the temple, so we made up a party to go together.

The dangerous part of the trip was a drive we were obliged to take from the end of the railroad to the temple. We telegraphed ahead to the authorities to learn whether we could not get policemen or soldiers for a guard. We received a reply that we would be taken care of.

When we reached the terminal we found that the way we were to be taken care of was this: A daring and wily brigand named Giovanni Tarantola had sent the police word that any party going to the temple of Ceres would be robbed. Tarantola always acted alone, and the police concluded to send several of what we would call plain clothes men with us, who would catch Signor Tarantola in his own trap.

All our tourists except myself backed out. The reason I stood my ground was that in all my travels I had had no marked adventure, and I needed one to live up my accounts of places I had visited. When I reached the terminal I found a little bit of an old stagecoach, drawn by three mules, in which we were to make the journey. The paint had long ago been worn off it, all except the words Rigle Poste (royal mail), for which it had formerly been used. It held four persons inside and three outside.

Three policemen and myself occupied the inside, two of the former being dressed as women. We were all armed and ready for Tarantola. We had gone but a few leagues when our royal mail coach was stopped by a woman who wished to take passage with us.

Sicily abounds in beautiful flowers, and the woman who joined us held a large bouquet of them in her hands. It is always warm on the island, but this person said she had a bad cold and asked if any of us would object to her having the windows closed.

The Italian ladies are pretty while young, but there are many hags among the lower classes, especially those past middle age. Our passenger, though she was of large build and must have been forty years old, was not bad looking. She was bedizen with jewels and tinsel, and her face was profusely painted and powdered. Some women in Italy have very coarse voices, and this woman's was of the coarsest.

When we told her that Tarantola had sent word that he would attack any party going to visit the temple she appeared to be very much frightened. She demanded a return of the fare she had paid that she might get out. But a Sicilian never returns anything that comes into his possession except by force, and the policeman who had taken her money refused to give it up. She said she could not afford to lose it, so she remained with us.

She was very liberal with her flowers, giving each of us one and poking her bouquet constantly under our noses. I observed that the perfume was having a visible effect on the policemen, and I began to feel drowsy myself. One of the so called ladies reached out a hand to lower a window, but the woman with the flowers stopped her and, showing her bouquet under her nostrils, held it there till the object of this attention sank back unconscious. A policeman tried to open the window, but the flower lady instead of showing her bouquet under his nose put the muzzle of a revolver there.

The next thing I knew I heard the words, "Wake up, Senor Americano," and I was roughly shaken. Opening my eyes, I saw the flower lady smiling at me.
"Give my compliments to the chief of police on your return, and tell him that when Tarantola says he will do a thing he keeps his word. These beggarly policemen have no money to repay me for my trouble, so I shall leave them. But I must trouble you to come with me. Any attempt at resistance and you will never see your beloved land again."

He stopped the coach and drove me before him into a wood, paying no attention to the driver of the royal mail and the policeman outside, except to turn and say, "I am Tarantola." Since he covered them they did not dare to draw a weapon.

Tarantola bade me write a note instructing my bankers to send 50,000 francs in gold if I wished to live. I was obliged to have a cable message sent to New York, not having so much money abroad, so I remained a prisoner in the catacombs for a month before my ransom arrived. Tarantola treated me very well, furnishing everything for which I asked, which he could well afford to do at the price I paid. When the money arrived I bade him adieu, and he charged me not to forget his message to the police. I delivered it with unctious.

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH

A Harmless Remedy, Made from Garden Sage, Restores Color to Gray Hair.

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs, which, unfortunately, are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hairs, however, are not always an indication of advancing age, for many people have gray hairs quite early in life. Of course, it is unnatural, and indicates that there is something wrong with the individual, and that Nature needs assistance in correcting the trouble. The same is true of hair that thins every day. If everything is right with Nature, the hair, even in comparatively elderly people, should be long, thick and glossy, without even a streak of gray.

The ideal assistant to Nature in restoring and preserving the hair is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a clean and wholesome dressing for daily use. It not only removes dandruff, but strengthens weak, thin and falling hair and promotes its growth. A few applications will restore faded or gray hair to its natural color.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. People's Drug Store, Special Agent for Gettysburg.

TAFT SUSTAINED IN THE HOUSE

Fail to Pass Wool and Free List Over Veto.

WINS TWO GREAT VICTORIES

The President Promptly Sends Message Vetoing Farmers' Measure and Its Fate Is Quickly Settled.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The solid Democracy of the house, aided by the last-ditch insurgents on the Republican side, struggled valiantly but ineffectually to override President Taft's veto of the wool and the farmers' free list bills.

This result is taken as assurance that there is no possibility of tariff legislation at this session.

Confident at the opening of the struggle that they would have the required two-thirds to override the executive disapproval of the wool tariff bill, they went to defeat in decisive fashion.

The first great victory for President Taft is told in these figures of the vote: To override the veto, 227, and 129 against. Thus the Democratic-insurgent alliance fell short of the two-thirds required by just eleven votes.

Of the entire membership of the house, 391, less several vacancies, 356 members, or nearly the entire membership, were present and voting.

The second victory for the president was no less decisive, the house failing to override the veto of the free list bill, received just after the veto on the wool measure, by a vote of 226 to 127.

Shortly before the voting began, after a three hours' debate that at times was very bitter, the Republican whip, Representative Dwight, of New York, declared he had canvassed the house and that the Democrats would fall short of the two-thirds vote necessary to pass the bill over the veto.

Interest in the debate then became more intense when news spread that Speaker Clark would take the floor and close the debate.

When the voting began it became evident that many, but not all, of the insurgents who had voted originally for the wool bill would vote with the Democrats to go over the president's head.

Get Twenty Insurgent Votes.

The first roll call indicated that the motion to override the veto had failed, but a record roll call was ordered, to verify the count. This resulted 227 to 129.

Twenty Republicans, all insurgents, voted with the Democrats, as follows: Anderson, Davis, Hanna, Haugen, Hel-geson, Hubbard, Jackson, Kent, La-Pollette, Lenroot, Lindbergh, Madison, Miller, Morse, Murdock, Nelson, Norris, Steenerson, Volstead and Warburton.

Aikens, of New York, an independent, also voted with the Democrats.
President Taft's message vetoing the so-called farmers' free list bill was read in the house.

Immediately on the conclusion of the reading of the message Representative Underwood, the Democratic leader, moved that the bill be passed over the veto. A roll call was begun.

The president declared in his message that the bill was so carelessly drawn that it was uncertain just what articles were covered by it. He sharply criticized every section of the bill and declared the language too ambiguous to be practicable.

Mr. Taft objected to the principle in the bill which admits raw materials free and keeps the machinery necessary to a finished product on the du-tiable list.

ATWOOD HAD TO LAND

Aviator, Short of Gasoline, Landed in Cornfield Near Erie.

Erie, Pa., Aug. 19.—Harry N. Atwood, flying from St. Louis to New York, dropped at Swanville, eleven miles west of here, his gasoline tank having become empty.

Early reports said that Atwood had been killed and the machine smashed, and the excitement in Erie was most intense.

The machine worked well from Cleveland until the aviator had passed Fairview, fourteen miles west of Erie.
Then Atwood found that his gasoline was going low, and he made a landing in John Strucker's cornfield, about a mile west of Swanville.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Oscar A. Brinley, flying a Wright aero-biplane for the American aviators, broke the world's altitude record for heavier than air machines at the aviation meet feet, made the first part of the month.

Brinley soared above Chicago to a height of about 12,000 feet.

LEGAL BUREAU COSTS TOO MUCH, SAYS WILEY

Offers to Do the Work For 1 Per Cent. of Present Cost.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The house investigation into the charges against Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, will come to a close, according to present plans, with the testimony of Secretary Wilson, of the department of agriculture, who is to take the witness stand on Monday.

Dr. Wiley finished the presentation of his side of the controversy which is raging in the department. He declared he would do the legal work of the bureau, now carried on by Solicitor McCabe, of the department, for one-hundredth part of the present cost, if he were only given a legal officer and a stenographer of his own.

He expressed his desire to put the burden on foods he believed to be injurious to health until the referee board had pronounced them harmless, but said he had been defeated in this by his associates.

He told of Associate Chemist Dunlap telling Secretary Wilson during Dr. Wiley's absence that work for the United States Pharmacopoeia was being done in the bureau and explained that congress made this pharmacopoeia the standard for drugs. Dr.
Wiley said the work done had cost $57. He was forced to stop it when Solicitor McCabe said it violated the law.

Many details were taken up by Attorney Davis, for Dr. Wiley. The witness was asked about the statement of Solicitor McCabe that few drug cases were reported by the bureau of chemistry for prosecution. Dr. Wiley replied that there were few cases prepared, because many lines of inquiry were taken out of his hands and turned over to the Remsen referee board.

"Your hands are tied until opinions are given by the board?"
"Absolutely paralyzed."

Dr. Wiley said he had recommended that when the harmful effect of materials was submitted to the Remsen board for investigation, the least that could be done for the protection of the public was to prohibit the use of the questionable materials until after the board had decided in favor of their use. Dr. Wiley said this policy had not been carried out.

FIVE ARRESTED FOR LYNCHING

Two Said to Have Seen the Entire Affair.

ARE HELD AS WITNESSES

Prisoners Said to Have Been In Front Ranks of Mob When Colored Man Was Burned to Ashes.

Cotatesville, Pa., Aug. 19.—Five men were held by District Attorney Robert Gawthrop as witnesses in connection with the lynching of Zach Walker.

The five men are:
Richard Tucker, assistant manager of an insurance company and a substitute policeman.

William A. Gilbert, a Philadelphia & Reading railway engineer.

Chester Bostwick, nineteen years of age, employed at Worth Brothers' steel plant.

Dale Hadley, driver of an ice cream wagon.

"Cap" E. C. Perry, a parachute jumper, who gave exhibitions during the recent harvest home celebration.

Although all of these men have been held under $1000 bail as witnesses against the men arrested in connection with the lynching, District Attorney Gawthrop said that some of them might be charged later with having been implicated in instigating the crime. He said that all five of the witnesses were within a few feet of the colored man when he was thrown upon the fire and burned alive.

Hadley, according to the district attorney, was so near the fire that he said he might have been burned by the flames. Hadley said he went right up to the fire and cut off a piece of the rope as a souvenir. This rope was in evidence.

Perry was near the mob throughout the trip from the hospital, and the officials say Bostwick was in the hallway when the colored man was taken from the bed and placed on the foot piece of the iron bedstead.

Tucker, who is a member of the Brandywine Fire company, and a brother-in-law of Stanley Howe, the policeman who was on guard over the colored man when he was taken from the hospital, testified that he was in the hospital before the prisoner was taken out, but that he went there to see that Howe was not foully dealt with.

Protected Policeman.

During the course of the investigation Tucker was asked if he did not place his hand over Howe's mouth, but he declared that he did not. Later he was asked if he did not put his arm around Howe's shoulder and hold him.
He denied holding Howe, but said that he might have put his arm on his shoulder when he thought the policeman was in danger of being assaulted by the mob. He said he was still in the hospital when Chief of Police Umsted arrived and took Howe aside to question him. The chief took Howe away from the building and asked him to remain over night with the nurses, as they were badly frightened.

Much excitement was caused when Chief of Police Umsted was called before the investigators, but later he left the police headquarters, where the investigation is being held, without guard. Mr. Gawthrop said that he had questioned the chief as to what he had seen when he went to the hospital as the mob was leaving with Walker.

Troops In Probe.

Captain Wilhelm, of the state constabulary, did a great deal of the questioning and his men took an active part in the investigation. His activity in connection with the work of examining witnesses indicated very clearly that the state is taking an active part in the investigation. District Attorney Gawthrop admitted that the state officials have taken part in the investigation.

The other two arrested are George Schofield and Norman Price, both of whom are said to have been among the first members of the mob to enter the hospital. This leaves a sixteen-year-old boy, George Stahl, as the leader of the mob, and the district attorney admits that to make him the principal in so big a crime would be absurd. It is for that reason that he declared the investigation is nowhere near an end.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of our dear little Robert Lee Nary.
T'was on the 19th of August, Just one year ago,
That the Saviour called our Robert; Called our darling from our care.
But now he shines in the light of God His likeness stamps his brow, Through the valley of death his feet have trod.

But he reigns in glory now.
Sleep on dear Robert and take thy rest.
God called you home he thought it best
From pain and suffering thou art free.
May we all prepare to follow thee.
The depth of our sorrow no tongue can tell.
At the loss of one we loved so well,
And when he lies in peaceful sleep, His sacred memory we shall keep.
By his mother.

DESCRIBES TRIP TO NIAGARA

H. W. Taylor, of Arendtsville, writes to The Times the following description of his trip to Niagara Falls and Canada.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 15, 1931 Editor Gettysburg Times:

We left Biglerville on the morning of August 12 by way of Harrisburg, Lebanon, Reading and Allentown.
Through this section of country the corn crop couldn't look more promising. At Allentown we changed to the Lehigh Valley route. This is a very picturesque route. Running along and winding with the river for miles and at many places the road bed was cut out of solid rock. Above Livingston we passed through a tunnel under a mountain bridge and came to the hanks of the Susquehanna. At Mauch Chunk we saw the oldest Railroad in the United States and a canal boat towed by 2 mules. At White Haven, Ohio, a contrivance to shut off the tracks so that no one could get on the tracks while trains are passing. You find them throughout the West. Gettysburg should have something like that.

The Allegheny mountains along this route contain very little timber and when you reach the top above Glen Sulphur Springs you will behold a beautiful sight, to your right lies a beautiful valley covered with fine cities and towns. You then pass through the mining towns of Wilkes Barre and Duncannon. Through this section very little of the cereals is raised.
Buckwheat being the principal crop.
At Geneva, N. Y., on the other side of the mountain were the only apple orchards of considerable size we saw.
From Geneva to Buffalo you will see field after field of potatoes and cabbage.

We arrived at Niagara Falls at 9 p. m. We spent two days there and there are some of the finest sights that man's eye can behold. I studied geography in my school days and taught the boys and girls geography for years but never had the faintest idea what the Falls were.

The channel into which the Niagara river falls is wide and very deep cut out of solid rock. It must have been formed with the formation of the earth.
The Niagara River receives all the waters of the Great Lakes with the exception of Lake Ontario. Immense volumes of water pass over these Falls.

We passed over the large toll bridge that connects New York with Canada and I for the first time in my life became a subject of Great Britain for a little while. The Clifton and Lafayette hotels are fine buildings on the Canadian side and along the river and falls are beautiful lawns, parks, residences and government buildings also the largest power house in the world which furnishes electric power for the city of Toronto, Canada, 95 miles away and as you pass along the falls you will get a shower bath from the spray, caused by the waters falling over the precipice. Next you will come to the burning Sulphur Springs, always burning but the water is always cold.

We took a ride on the "Great George Route" where the tourist sees many beautiful sights. From the Canadian side you can see the entire Falls at one glance.

As you pass down the Canadian side you pass the beautiful monument to the memory of Gen. Brock, who was killed in the war of 1812. On the American side you can see the Whirlpool Rapids, Cave of the Winds and the spot where Father Hennepin was killed, the first Catholic Missionary to the United States. No one should miss going down the sloping steps 264 steps to the bottom of the channel, where you can get right along side and behind the falls. You can see rainbows most anytime of the day if the sun is shining. The falling waters make a noise resembling thunder and a dense cloud of vapor. The river about a mile above the falls is divided into two streams by Goat Island, which is a large beautiful island covered with timber and on each side of the island the river descends rapidly, forming the rapids above the falls, which makes a very beautiful sight.
H. W. Taylor.

EGGENTRIC WAGNER.

A Glimpse of the Famous Composer in One of His Moods.

Richard Wagner, the composer, needed a good deal of managing, and Frau Cosima was always tactful, according to Judith Gautier's "Wagner at Home." When the author hesitated before accepting Wagner's invitation to an excursion she says Frau Cosima made signs to her and, coming nearer, said in a low voice: "Do not refuse, he would be angry. And let him manage it all; let him take the lead. If you do not wish to grieve him."

Later on she gives another curious scene: "Behind the house, in that court which formed a part of the garden, and from which the carriage drive started, there was a high swing, which the children were allowed to use very carefully, and with which the older people sometimes amused themselves.
One day Mme. Cosima was sitting on the narrow board. Wagner offered to start the swing and give her a good flight through the air. All went well for a time, but, little by little, the motion became more rapid; higher and still higher went the swing. In vain Mme. Cosima begged for mercy. Carried away by a kind of frenzy, the master paid no attention and the incident began to have a terrifying effect.
"Cosima grew white; he held her relaxed, and she was about to fall. 'Do you not see that she is fainting?' I cried, throwing myself toward Wagner.
He grew pale in his turn, and the danger was quickly averted. But, as the poor woman continued to be dizzy and trembling, the master concluded it would be wise to create a diversion. He ran rapidly toward the house, and by the aid of the shutters, the moldings and protections of the stones, he climbed nimbly up the side and, reaching the balcony of the floor above, leaped over it.

"He had obtained the desired effect, but in replacing one evil by another.
Trembling with anxiety, Cosima breathed to me, saying under her breath:
'Above all things, do not notice him; do not look surprised, or you can never tell where he will end.'"

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMY.

The English Method of Dealing Out Supplies by the Week.

In the matter of small savings and watchfulness of expenditure the English housewife is ahead. For example, the English housekeeper deals out to her servants the week's allowance of sugar, rice, flour, coffee and all other household provisions that are kept in quantity, and requires an account of it all to be rendered, the thing having been brought to so fine a point that she knows the exact amount of each article requisite for her family, allowing so much to each individual and that quantity being sufficient, as she knows by experience, two ounces of tea, for instance, being regarded as a week's supply for each single individual, one-half pound of sugar, three and one-half pounds of meat for a woman and five and one-fourth for a man—facts which the housekeeper probably learned from her mother before her knowing, moreover, the greater variety of the simpler kinds required.

All of these stores she sets down in her housekeeping book as she gives them out, and she does not fail on the next dispensing day to consult her dates and if anything be left over in the cook's hands not accounted for to subtract that from the amount to be newly issued. And in England servants expect this. So far from being indignant with it they would feel as if there were no guiding hand behind them if left undone and they given their head in an overflowing storeroom, as servants are with us.

In fact, there is no saving which the housewife across the water considers too small to practice or as beneath her dignity.—Exchange.

Perseverance.

Perseverance is more prevailing than violence, and many things which cannot be overcome when they are together yield themselves up when taken little by little.

HOW TO OBTAIN GOOD HIGHWAYS

Bond Issue Plan For Counties a Remedy For Present Evils.

QUICKER AND BETTER ROADS.

Direct Tax Method Might Do For the Time Being, but the Issuing of Bonds Will Insure Good Thoroughfares For Generations to Come.
Many Southern Counties Using Plan.

A study of the problems connected with the development of our nation has shown that we take first rank in civil government, manufactures, commerce and in the world's affairs generally, yet improved public road construction, the one phase of our American life upon which depend more than any other the certain prosperity and social comfort of a large majority of our citizens, has been neglected to a degree that is almost beyond the power of conception, says Dr. J. H.
Pratt, state geologist of North Carolina.

The old method of obtaining revenue for the construction of roads was by levying a labor tax, which required all able-bodied male residents of a state between certain ages to work on the public highways within their respective townships for a certain number of days per annum, but in lieu of this labor they could pay a certain amount for each day that they were required to work. While thousands of miles of public roads have been built by this means, there are but few miles of graded or improved roads constructed, and it is practically impossible to construct a system of good roads in this way. If it does not give good improved roads how can they be obtained?

Public roads are public necessities, and the benefits to be derived from their construction in the various counties composing the state are not only of great value to each county, but also to the state. Public roads are ready to serve all classes, they are common property of all the people, and all the people have the right and privilege to use them. Therefore why should not all the people bear some of the expense?

To carry out this work to the quickest and to the best advantage the county should issue bonds in order to secure the necessary funds.

It is a fair and equitable arrangement that future generations should pay for a portion of the improvements of our public roads, as they derive as great a benefit as the present generation. Too many have an idea that to bond their county will mean a very large increase in their taxes without their deriving any material benefits from their expenditures, not realizing that the increase in the value of property and the decrease in the cost of the maintenance of the roads and the wear and tear on horses, wagons and harness is so much money saved.

The issuing of bonds makes available funds in sufficient quantity to render possible the accomplishment of definite and desirable results.

They give almost immediately the benefit of good roads, while the payment for them is deferred for many years until the county has progressed in material wealth to enable it to pay the bonds without unnecessary inconvenience.

They obviate the necessity for a high road tax while accomplishing the results for which such a tax would be levied.

Let us consider briefly what a $100,- 000 bond issue would cost a county:

In the first place, I believe the bonds could be sold at bearing 4 1/2 per cent interest. This will mean that the interest on the issue of $100,000 will be $4,500 per annum. It will also be necessary to put by a sinking fund to take care of these bonds on maturity. Such a sum as is necessary can be put by each year at 5 per cent interest and at the end of forty years will cover the bond issue. The amount that it will be necessary to put aside each year for this purpose will be $232. This makes a total of $4,732 that a county will have to raise each year to take care of this bond issue. This amount will not be much as it would be necessary to raise by a high tax, 35 cents to 50 cents, which some counties have levied in providing the money for road construction. Suppose the assessed property valuation is $5,000,000, a tax of only 20 cents on the $50 would yield $10,000 annually, which would be sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds, create a sinking fund and leave enough money, $10,500, for the maintenance of the improved road and to keep in repair the roads in the county that are not being permanently improved.

This twenty cent tax is a small tax for good roads work and if this tax was levied without bond issue it would usually all be spent in maintenance of the roads without permanently improving any of them.

If a county or a township decides to try and raise the necessary revenue for good roads construction by a direct tax on the $100 worth of property it would require an exceedingly high tax to accomplish the desired result, unless there was situated in the county a large city whose accumulated wealth could be taxed for good road work in the county. Counties situated in this way could probably raise a revenue sufficient to construct improved roads throughout the county with a tax not running over 50 cents on the $100 worth of property. The counties, however, without large cities or towns should issue bonds for good roads construction.
